LETTERS DEPT.

JAMES BOMB—007

I have, I am sorry to say, been reading your ridiculous magazine for four years. I have found many stupid articles which were, nevertheless, amusing. But, in your April issue (#94), you had the temerity to satirize the greatest of all fictional characters, James Bond. I hope you get thousands of letters reprimanding you for printing this absurd article.

Andrew Dubrovsky
New York City

"James Bomb—007" was the greatest musical satire you have ever done. Not only were Drucker's drawings unusually good, but Jacobs' musical adaptation of songs from "Oklahoma" were as great as the originals.

Jack Bourque
Florence, Mass.

You came through! Your treatment of Ian Fleming's "character," James Bond, was truly deserved. If MAD had missed the opportunity to do a parody on such a suitable topic, I would have been disappointed.

Frank W. Tushner
Winona, Minn.

Perhaps you are clairvoyant. I just read an announcement that a musical, based on the James Bond books, is going to be written by Sylvia Fine. You sure showed them how it could be done.

Bill Williams
Evanston, Ill.

As a fellow Englishman, I thoroughly enjoyed your marvelous satire on James Bond.

John Tindall
Miami, Fla.

SEASONS' GREETINGS

MORE MAD E.S.P.?

Are you guys some sort of prophets? Enclosed is a news photo of Ringo Starr and his bride, which appeared in every newspaper across the country on Feb. 11.

It bears a striking resemblance to the photo you envisioned he carries in his wallet (MAD #91). In fact, most of the newspapers carried the same gag line for the caption, mainly: "Find Ringo's New Bride. Hint: He's on the right."

Joan Darcy
Jersey City, N.J.

MARGINAL THINKING

Those little picture-gags you stick in the margins to take up space are funnier than the rest of your magazine!

Ricky Zamarchi
Greenlawn, N.Y.

NEUROTIC MAIL

Thank you so very much for "Neurotic Magazine" in issue #94. It really hit home. Incidentally, I'm not acquainted with the writer, Stan Hart. Who told him so much about me?

Don Z. Block
Brooklyn, N.Y.

I was always under the impression that there already was a magazine for Neurotics... namely MAD! However, I really enjoyed the article. In fact, I read it over and ...

Steve Salo
Burbank, Calif.

DEAR "JOHN" LETTER

Just a note of thanks in grateful appreciation, and a recommendation for MAD. I await each issue eagerly. In fact, it was only their "Alfred" that held my children's interest long enough to accomplish toilet training. As a Pediatrician's wife, this victory was imperative in support of my husband's reputation.

Mrs. Ruth Weimer
Randolph, Mass.

Yeah, but what about our reputation?—Ed.

GOOD TO LAUGH AT ONE'S SELF

Your unique ability to reduce all phases of human endeavor to sparkling satire makes your publication a real milestone in literary achievement. It's good to laugh at one's self. Life is too short to spend in a state of worry or constant anxiety. Perhaps the world would be a better place if Mao and Kosygin would read and heed the philosophy of MAD.

Charles T. Joyner
Chesapeake, Va.

That'll be the day—when Mao and Kosygin can laugh at themselves!—Ed.

THAT ABOUT COVERS IT

I don't expect you to print this, because I know that the last thing you'd want to be called in public is "sentimental," but I want you to know that I think it was nice of you to change the cover on your "MAD Frontier" paperback book from one of Alfie on a rocking chair to one of him on a covered wagon. Not many magazines would go to that much trouble out of respect for the late President Kennedy.

Edith Assaff
Detroit, Michigan

PERSONNA NON GRATA

I've tried (Coo-coo) magazine and (Coo-coo) magazine, but I find that MAD gets me 25 to 30 more kicks per issue. Mainly, when I buy a copy, my Mom kicks me around the house.

We've had preposterous "Private Eye" characters in literature (Mickey Spillane's "Mike Hammer")! And we've had preposterous "Secret Agent" characters in movies (Ian Fleming's "James Bond")! But now we've got the most preposterous "Private Eye-Secret Agent" character of them all—on the most preposterous medium of them all—television! We're talking about the guy on the weekly NBC-TV show called

THE MAN FROM

A.U.N.T.I.E.

On a street in the East 50's in New York City, there is an ordinary Tailor Shop! We entered through the Agent's Entrance . . .

Isn't this a clever concept—having an ordinary Tailor Shop as the secret entrance to our secret Headquarters Building?

So . . . if it's so clever, why is our "Nielsen Rating" only 16.8??

We passed the ordinary-looking tailor pressing ordinary-looking dresses—crossed to the back room—and pulled open the drapes!

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

WRITER: ARNIE KOGAN

EEEEEEK!
What's the idea of undressing in the back room of this ordinary Tailor Shop in the East 50's—which is actually the secret entrance to the secret Headquarters Building of A.U.N.T.I.E.!

Idiots! Clods! Dots! The ordinary Tailor Shop you A.U.N.T.I.E. guys want is in the EAST 40's—not the East 50's! Everybody in New York knows that! You've got the WRONG SHOP!

Hey, you
mashers—
get out of here before I call a cop!

Hold it a minute, old man! My name is Napoleon Polo—and this is Illya Nutcrackin! We're Enforcement Agents for A.U.N.T.I.E.—an international organization for preserving law and order all over the civilized world!

So maybe you could help me! Mine partner absconded with all our cash and he's gambling it away in Las Vegas!

Las Vegas!? Are you kidding!? I said "the CIVILIZED world"!

We'd better hurry, Napoleon! They're waiting for us at Headquarters!

Just one second!
I'll be right with you!

We've got to be careful, Napoleon! Our hated enemy organization "CRUSH" has agents everywhere! I don't trust anyone! To me everyone looks suspicious! Even that innocent-looking Flower Lady!

Well, since I thrive on adventure, I think I'll take a chance! One carnation, please . . .

See! what did I tell you?!

Hmmml! Interesting! Not only has "CRUSH" planted a Black Widow Spider, but they've equipped him! If his natural venom doesn't work, he's carrying a poison gas vial in his right foreleg, a small machine gun in his left foreleg, and a pill for committing suicide in case I try to question him in his left rear leg. There's only one thing to do in a situation like this . . .

What's that, Napoleon?

I think I'll cry!

Isn't that clever—how we work the sub-title of the Act into the dialogue!? Meanwhile, we're letting the Flower Lady get away!

Incredible! Simply incredible!

What's incredible? That we keep letting sexy female agents of "CRUSH" get away? That this whole show is completely and unbelievably nuts—and yet it's still on the air?

No! It's incredible that she could leave without once wanting to kiss me!

ACT TWO—"You Really Know How To Hurt A Guy, Don't You!"

I am Illya Nutcrackin—Enforcement Agent, Section 2—expert in "Bomb Detonation"—"Communications" and "Pretending to be Wounded" . . .

Fine, Mr. Nutcrackin! Here's your tag . . .

I'm Napoleon Polo—Enforcement Agent, Section 2—expert in "Tactical Weapons"—"Delivering Dry Humor With Amused Detachment" and "Heavy Kissing" . . .

Fine, Mr. Polo! Here's your kiss!

Hmmmm! I can tell from your kiss that you're a Spy from "CRUSH"!

And I can tell from your kiss that you're a Lover from "Hunger"!!

You really know how to hurt a guy, don't you!

Be careful, Napoleon! If she's a spy from "CRUSH," she's probably been assigned to kill you! That kiss may be a trick!

Of course it's a trick! Her lips are tipped with a deadly poison—cynthynide of curare! But I'm way ahead of her, Chief! I'm wearing the "antidote" to cynthynide of course . . .

She's the most treacherous agent they have! She's tried to kill you seven times this month! She's bombed your apartment, dynamited your car, poisoned your pizza, and shot acid in your face with a water pistol! What should we do with her, Napoleon?

What else? Let her go! I'm in love with her!

Men . . . "CRUSH" is trying to gain control of the world by poisoning its food supply! We believe the next three spots they'll strike are: A Super-Market in Yugoslavia, a Fruit Stand in Calcutta, and an Appetizer Store in Brooklyn! They have three advantages: They have weapons, they have strength, and mainly they have better acting ability than we have! Who wants to volunteer?

Me-ME!

No! Take ME!

No, me! I'll be your best friend!

Napoleon! How about you?

How many women in Yugoslavia?

About nine million!

All right! I'll go! It'll kill an evening!

Hey, what about me? What should I do? Why does he always get the best assignments? I'm just as bad an actor as he is! Why not give me a pressing assignment?

Nutcrackin'! For you—I have the most pressing assignment we've ever had! Go over to the machine and have these pressed by 6 o'clock! It's Napoleon's wardrobe—and he has to look slick for this mission!

You really know how to hurt a guy, don't you!

Forget it, Illya! We already used the sub-title in the dialogue!

ACT THREE—"Nice Day If It Don't Rain!"

Well, here I am in Yugoslavia! The first thing I have to do is look for a typical, average, run-of-the-mill citizen to help me in my adventure! That's become a kind of cute trademark in this series! Hmmmm—let me see . . .

Yugoslavian peasant women! No—they're not typical . . .

Yugoslavian farmer! No—he's not typical!

A band of Yugoslavian Gypsies! No, they're not typical!

A French Countess posing like an $80-an-hour fashion model—dressed in stretch pants and a gold tiara, wearing a Vassar ring, reading a book by Mailer, and holding two poodles on a leash! Now SHE'S TYPICAL. I'll just hit her with one of my clever, suave opening lines!

Hi, babe!
Nice day
if it
don't rain!

Boy, that's a pretty clever,
suave opening line! Naturally, I'm intrigued! Who are you?

I'm Napoleon Polo of A.U.N.T.I.E.! I've got great news! You've been selected as this week's typical ordinary citizen to help me in my adventure and share the "Torture Scene" when we're captured!

What makes you think we'll be captured?

It's those subtle little things you learn to notice when you're an Agent! Like those nine machine guns coming out of the cantaloupes—and the flame-throwers aimed at us from the Frozen Food Counter—but mainly, it's those Communist Pygmies with the Poison-Dart Blow-Guns hiding in the apple sauce jars!

I'd better call A.U.N.T.I.E. for instructions with my Pinky-Ring World-Wide Short-Wave Transmitter-and-Receiver! But first, I've got to attach the Pull-Out High-Gain Antenna to this wall here . . .

Open Channel "D"! Open Channel "D"!

Not on your life, Mr. Polo! If we open Channel "D", the few viewers we have will switch to it from THIS channel!

C'mon!
A.U.N.T.I.E.
can't help us!
We have to get
out of here!
Follow me!

Napoleon!
LOOK OUT!
THE WALL
BEHIND YOU
IS COLLAPSING!!

Was that "CRUSH" who collapsed the wall
and trapped us?

No! That was
STUPIDITY!
I forgot to detach
the Pull-Out
High-Gain Antenna!

And what is this? Where are we now?

This is the big final "Torture Scene"! They get more incredible with each episode!
Tonight, we are slowly being lowered into a giant bowl of oatmeal! According to that clock, we have exactly six minutes before we'll be boiled alive! You know what that means, don't you? I get to kiss you three times before we die!

You're not kissing anyone, Napoleon Polo! I'm releasing the girl and she's coming with me! You're all through kissing—and you're all through hugging—and you're all through making out like crazy on every continent while delivering trite "tongue-in-cheek" dialogue! From now on, another famous Agent is going to get his chance at all the beautiful women and wild, unbelievable adventures . . .

Ah-HA! So you're the man behind this plot! I should have known So you want to cut in on my beautiful women and wild adventures!

Me!? Are you kidding?! Who needs your women and adventures! I have more in one movie than you have in a whole TV season!

No, I was merely hired to capture you by the man who's wanted your job for some time! HE's the one who needs women and wild adventures! Hoo-boy, is he frustrated!

All right, Boss!
He's ready to be finished off!

ILLYA! ILLYA
NUTCRACKIN'!

That's right, Napoleon!
And now, I'll be The Man
From A.U.N.T.I.E.!

Tell me, Napoleon, before
I drop you into the giant bowl of boiling oatmeal—
what does A.U.N.T.I.E. stand for . . . ?

ASSOCIATION for UNBELIEVABLY NAUSEATING TELEVISION and IDIOTIC ENTERTAINMENT . . . and thank God I'm through with it!

The Mystery Guest Relative

All right, members of the Daly family, you've been wearing your blindfolds all day now . . . waiting for the arrival of our famous relative! And here he is! Won't you come in, Mystery Guest Relative . . . and SIGN IN PLEASE!?

The Guest Garbage Dumper

Hi, Bing! Welcome to my garbage can! So wonderful of you to drop over!

Thanks, Judy! It was swell of you to invite me here with my garbage to be a "Guest Dumper" at your great trash can! Especially since my can is all full!

The Table-Hopper In His Own

Welcome home, Phil, dear! I've got a great table for you—right near the kitchen door! You can be seen by everyone of importance who comes through the house . . . the Plumber, the TV Repairman, the man from Internal Revenue—

You look fantastic, Doll! Oh—there are some people I know on the other side of the kitchen! Mind if I table hop . . . ?

A Medley Of Clichés From A Great Old Aunt

Folks, let's hear it for the pride of the Tucker family—a "living legend" in Family Biz who's visiting us tonight! She is one of the warmest, most emotional people I know! What clichés are you going to do for us tonight, Aunt Sophie?

(SOB) Well, Marvin, I'd like to start off my performance as usual by sobbing for a few hours! And then, I'd like to say . . . (SOB) . . . Is that my little nephew Westbrook sitting over there? I just can't get over how he's grown!

Beautiful, Aunt Sophie! They don't write clichés like that any more!

(SOB) For my next remark, I'd like to say . . . (SOB) My, my, how time flies!

And finally, I'd like to say . . . (SOB) Thank you, and God bless you!

Whatya say, folks? Are we going to let her go off without doing another cliché? More . . . more . . . !

Aunt Sophie! How about your all-time favorite: "We should see more of each other!"?

Aunt Sophie, how about: "We should all live and be well!"?

Thank you! You're a wonderful, wonderful family! And now . . . for my encore, I'd like to introduce a cliché written by my own Aunt, back in 1896. I hope you like it!

Westbrook, my boy . . . remember . . . it's just as easy to marry a rich girl as a poor one!

Thank you . . . and God bless you!

Hey, Mom . . . how come Aunt Sophie is smiling now? How come she suddenly stopped crying?

A lamp just fell on her toe, dear . . . and she's in great pain! She only cries when she's happy!!

The Beverly Hills Mourners

Folks, we're going to have a real fun-burial today! Help yourselves to the hors d'oeuvres! The ones with the black toothpicks are for the immediate family!

How come there are two caskets, Bobby?

We're in luck, Sandra! Right after the scheduled funeral, they're throwing a Sneak Burial for a famous show biz personality!

Listen, darling . . . They're playing our song . . . "The Rock of Ages Bossa Nova"!

Dino is especially well-plastered today, Sammy! Who's the ugly broad he's dancing with?

I'm sorry you lost your Aunt, dolling! I'd cry with you, but our hankies clash!

George, you go on right after "Selma and her Talking Dogs". Is your eulogy ready?

Almost! I need one or two more gags!

Don't you know her, Frankie? That's the deceased!

Gee, Boss, you look better than ever since you went on that diet!

Will you listen to that? Did you ever hear anything more disgusting? What an apple polisher!

My kid was saying just last night, "Gee, Uncle Boss is nice! When I see him again, I'm gonna give him a big kiss!"

I swear! Any second, I think I'll throw up!

I love your new suit! You sure do have good taste in clothes!

How much longer is that "Brass-Kisser" going to stay in there? I've been waiting to talk to the Boss all morning—

I've had a lot of Bosses in my time, but you're the fairest and the most understanding!

—and that dirty fink has said practically everything I planned to say!

Good bye, Dear!

Don't kiss me! I've got a terrible cold! You don't want your whole office to catch it, do you?

Hmmph! I didn't notice she had a cold! Who's she kidding? She just didn't want to kiss me, that's all! She rejected me, that's what she did! And I'm hurt! And when I get hurt, I get mad! Real mad!!

What's going on here? Just what in heck do you think I pay you for . . . to drink coffee? Get back to work . . . all of you!

All this responsibility and aggravation and headaches and heartaches! Who needs it! I wish I were a Stock Room Boy again!

What a day I had at the office—buying, selling, maneuvering, wheeling and dealing! Boy, my nerves are all tied up in knots!

I've got to unwind! I need a change of pace! Tonight, let's have an evening of fun and games so I can get my mind off business completely!

Is everything set up?

Yes, dear!

You call this a letter? With two erasures? Why don't you learn to type? That's not typing you're doing, that's hunt-and-pecking!

Listen, Sturdley, I'll have no more of your stupid mistakes! Remember, you can be replaced easily—by an I.B.M. machine!

Hello, dear! I've been thinking! Wasn't that considerate of me not to kiss you this morning so your office wouldn't catch?

They caught it anyhow!

Today, I'm the Boss!
I'm a big success!

Ah-hah! Here it comes! He's hinting for a raise! Next, he'll tell me about his extra medical expenses!

Then of course, my wife was sick, and that put me into an even worse hole!

Oh, how I know these crybabies! Next, he's going to tell me that I just wouldn't understand!

But, of course, you wouldn't understand such problems!

All right! Hold it right there!!

But, Mr. Maxwell! I don't get it! You deal in hundreds of thousands of dollars every day! Why should such a small amount bother you!

To tell the truth, numbers baffle me! A hundred thousand dollars is beyond my comprehension . . .

BUT FIFTY-FIVE CENTS . . . THAT I UNDERSTAND!!

Ahhhh! The sun's in its heaven,
my problem is solved, and all's right with the world! Where's that idea I wrote down?

Right
where you left
it!

YAAAAAHHHHH!

Now what's wrong?!

"In regard to inventory build-up and rising labor costs, siggle the mpfh

Boy, this teenage party of my daughters is costing me
a small fortune!

Hey, kid! Ask me
how business is!

Sure . . .

How's business?

Ecccchhh!

Okay! Now I can write this whole party off as a
"Business Conference"!

You've been beating around the bush—hinting for a raise—so let's discuss it! First of all, the company can't afford it! Second, you don't even deserve it! And third—the fact is, we were thinking of letting you go . . .

No, Boss! You've got me all wrong!
I'm not hinting for a raise! I'm just trying to explain to you why I'll be leaving in two weeks! I've taken a new job that pays me much more!

You—
you what?

Now let's not get excited, Gormley! We need you here! I'll meet their price! In fact, I'll give you ten dollars more! No, twenty! Er—thirty?

There's a real man!

His business is failing—his

OUT, DAMNED SPOT! DEPT.

Some time back (MAD #81), we published "The MAD Plan For Beating TV Commercial Breaks" which offered suggestions and methods for effectively, productively and enjoyably filling the valuable time taken up by idiotic TV ads. Now, MAD offers the following article for those lazy slobs who just cannot bring themselves to leave their TV set for something constructive . . . who just sit there, enduring the pain of those ridiculous commercials. For you, MAD has created these

TV-COMMERCIAL AIDS

OR, HOW TO LIVE WITH TELEVISION COMMERCIALS— AND STILL NOT GO OUT OF YOUR EVER-LOVIN' MIND

ARTIST & WRITER: AL JAFFEE

Aside from appealing to the moronic, the neurotic and the just-plain-sick, there's another irritating aspect to all TV commercials. This is especially apparent during late evening hours when the typical TV viewer is straining to catch the sound that has been purposely tuned very low so as not to disturb sleeping children or crabby neighbors.

Suddenly, the commercial comes on like a 21-gun salute—and the viewer must make a mad dash to the set in order to turn down the volume. Then he's got to stand there for three or four minutes while five or six commercials are run off and the program resumes. Only then can he dare to turn the volume up again and return wearily to his seat.

Some lucky set owners have remote control units that can turn sound down from across the room. But vast majority of viewers do not own them, and must run back and forth 20 or 30 times an hour to control commercial nuisance.

Many ingenious TV viewers, when they can no longer stand it, have spontaneously created a primitive form of remote control like the one shown above. Unfortunately, this has its limitations since it can only be used once an evening.

A SIMPLE REMOTE SOUND-CONTROL DEVICE THAT ANYONE CAN MAKE

This is a simple Remote Control unit which any idiot can assemble and install, so ask an idiot to help you. Wires A and B lead from ordinary "On-Off" switch X (purchased at any hardware store) to TV set speaker Y. Note that TV speaker has two wires C and D which come from TV chassis. Cut one of these and connect ends of A and B to cut ends of speaker wire as shown in close-up drawing. Tape bare splices, and your Remote Control is ready for operation.

ADDITIONAL COMPONENTS THAT COULD MAKE

For the really dedicated TV-Commercial hater, the simple Remote Control "Sound-Off" Unit may not be enough. So here are more sophisticated approaches to the problem. These can be assembled and instal-

FUNNY MOUTHINGS UNIT

For many, a silent picture on TV may seem out of place, so this light-hearted device can be fun. It consists of pre-taped hilarious dialogue which replaces the words of the commercial announcer when his sound is knocked off, and makes his pitch even more idiotic than it actually is.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE UNIT

For those who may find ridiculous dialogue synchronized with a TV-commercial equally boring, this simple unit can be employed. It consists of recorded musical selections which start playing automatically when sound is knocked off. You listen to soothing melody while announcer mimes.

MOST COMPLETE REMOTE CONTROL UNIT POSSIBLE

Since a still picture is a poor substitute for live TV, this all-in-one unit will solve every problem. A motion picture projector unit is coupled with all the others to go on when sound is knocked off. Along with pre-selected travel pictures or action shots, the viewer can employ funny mouthings, or musical accompaniment or combination of both. In fact, when TV programs themselves are bad, it provides good uninterrupted feature-length entertainment.

VIEWER ENJOYING HOMEMADE "TV-COMMERCIAL SOUND-OFF" DEVICE

AND NOW A MESSAGE FROM CLICK!

Imagine! Now—with this simple Remote Control Unit—just a flick of your finger and you've knocked off the sound and rendered ineffective an offensive TV commercial! And what fun it is, when you realize that you're destroying a commercial that cost a sponsor maybe $50,000 or more to produce with a switch that cost you maybe 50¢ to produce!

TELEVISION VIEWING ALMOST WORTHWHILE

led in one or more units, depending upon how much time and money one wants to waste on this silly business. Just look how much of it has been spent already just to bring you this ridiculous article.

DRAW CURTAIN UNIT

This component is designed for those viewers who prefer not to have their musical interludes marred by repugnant pictures. It automatically closes curtain over TV screen when music comes on, eliminating disgusting views of bad breath, gassy stomachs, etc., so viewer can eat a snack.

STILL PICTURE UNIT

For those viewers who would not be satisfied to stare at a blank curtain while listening to a musical interlude, this component can be added. It automatically unrolls a full-color photo that is both pleasant and inspirational to look at while listening to music and eating a snack.

MOST EFFECTIVE REMOTE CONTROL UNIT POSSIBLE

However, after carefully checking out this season's TV offerings, we've come to the conclusion that the programs are just as irritating as the commercials, and that this is the best remote control unit you can use. Now, instead of exposing yourself to television brain-rot, your mind can be elevated and nurtured by more worthwhile pursuits. Like reading, f'rinstance. And we're not talking about reading this rag, you clod! Try something constructive!

JOKE AND DAGGER DEPT. PART III

SOCKO B.O. DEPT.

And now, in the tradition of "Flying Ace" (MAD #93) and "Son Of Mighty Joe Kong" (MAD #94) which you all loved . . . er—liked . . . well—tolerated . . . MAD once again returns to the era of "Gutsy Movies" when men were men, women were women, and would-be musicians preferred to become Prize Fighters because they had Frankie! What happened to you?

I was playing Tiddly-Winks—and I lost!

You don't fool me! You been inna fight!
Why you get inna fight? You a good boy!

That's why I get inna fight! Because I'm

MORT
DRUCKER

Frankie, don't talk like that! You break a mother's heart! And you don't exactly do wonders for the liver! You forget about fighting and go upstairs and practice your Ocarina! Someday, you're gonna play in Carnegie Hall! Besides, it'll give us a chance to use that corny old "transition scene"—where we see a little boy playing an Ocarina badly, growing up into a handsome young man, still playing an Ocarina badly!

Ahh, that's better!
Hey, Ma! Look what

NOT,
Frankie!

No son of mine is gonna learn to be a stumble-bumble fighter—always hitting people . . .

. . . and punching people! And knocking people down! How do you think I'd feel knowing my son is beating up people?

How do you think I feel??
First a girl beats me up,
and now an old lady beats me up! I'm goin' to the Gym,
Mom—and you can't stop me!

Why should I stop you? If I stopped you,
the picture
would end
right here!

Hello, kid! The fellers in the neighborhood give you a going-over?

No—this my

did!

It's about time you yourself, kid! But it'll take money!

I got

Okay, let's see

Put on these

a couple of rounds with Bruiser Cowalsky
over there . . . !

Gus—why are you letting a kid like that go up against the Bruiser?

Because it'll give me
a chance to deliver all them clichés about the Fight Game being tough
at first—and an uphill battle—and a road
paved with hard knocks!

But now—
let's talk about you!

It's about time!

Get out of the Fight Game—before it's too late, Frankie!

But I've only been in it for twenty minutes!

Don't let the fight
game—with all of its corruption and gambling and crime
and athlete's foot
claim another victim,
Frankie . . .

It's no use, Mona!
I'm going through with it and no one can stop me!

Why should we stop
you? If we stopped
you, we wouldn't get to see those typical scenes of the "Young Fighter In Training"—

And your Mother will get $1000 a week while you're under contract to me!

Do you think you can mend a broken heart with $1000 a week? Why it wouldn't even begin to mend for less than $1500 . . . !

Okay! It's a deal! $1500 a week!

It's a deal on one condition, Mr. Finster!

You name it, kid!

Now we show the typical montage sequence of me fighting my way up to a crack at the title!

Well, he did it again, Folks! A surprise punch where "Detestible" least expected it! Right in the middle of his introduction!

The win-nah, and new cham-peen—Frankie "The Kid" . . . and folks, please cheer loud and long so we can move our cameras back into Frankie's dressing room for the big final scene!

You crossed me, Frankie! Now I'm gonna fix you good! You'll never play the Ocarina again! Okay, boys, BREAK HIS LIPS!!

Oh, yeah?

I'll help you, Frankie!

And I'll help you too, Frankie! You know how I can't stand fighting! If God wanted man to fight, he would have given him clubs instead of hands . . . !

Mamma . . . Mona . . . I've had enough! I'm quitting the Fight Game!

That's music to my ears, son . . . and speaking of music—

My old Ocarina! Gee, thanks, Ma! And Mona—I was wondering . . .

Yes, but first—

RIDICULOUS AD CAMPAIGNS

Before Our Minds Go SNAP! CRACKLE & OOM-PAH-POP!

If you advertisers have to blow your own horns, why tie your products to unrelated activities? Mainly, what's eating a Breakfast Cereal got to do with playing a musical instrument. Boy... we just can't swallow that!
